Features & Amenities

- Exercise facility is available

Facts

- The tower grows out from two symmetrical blocks of reinforced concrete that contain the lifts and cabling. The elevation remains light and pure. It is encased in a double skin of glass, the silvery outside face of which is finely lined with vertical grooves.
- Tour Sequoia is the first tower to use the architectural option of an "all round" and a flat side. Many similar buildings in La Défense would follow suit.
- It signaled the debut of the fourth generation of building in La Défense. Its architects designed it as a complementary nod to the CNIT, a "campanile" whose curved side echoes the famous vault.
