- Encased at the Louisiana-Capitol corner is a pre-existing 2-story building. This accounts for the extremely high level of the second floor of the Bank Of America Center.
- It took nine months to complete excavation of the site, which resulted in a maximum depth of 52 feet below grade.
- In 12 hours, 168 trucks managed to pour 11,000 cubic yards of concrete that make up the foundation.
- Gensler & Associates were responsible for the interior design of the bank's spaces.
- The structure enclosing the 2-story building is 120 feet tall.
