Facts

- This large office tower was planned to be erected over the historic George Patterson House. Its first floor was some 60m above the ground. The unique skyscraper was quoted as looking like a "mix master". Due to the economic downturn in 1990, the project was shelved. In 1997 a more modest 60m, 18-storey structure was erected, which since 1994 had an amended height limit imposed on the site due to overshadowing issues relating to Australia Square Plaza.
